Bethel Station Board gives informal go-ahead on height

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Planning Board has indicated to developer Heine Merrill that it foresees no difficulty -- at least in regard to height -- in approving his plans for a five-story hotel and three-story retail/residential buildings in the proposed Bethel Station Project.

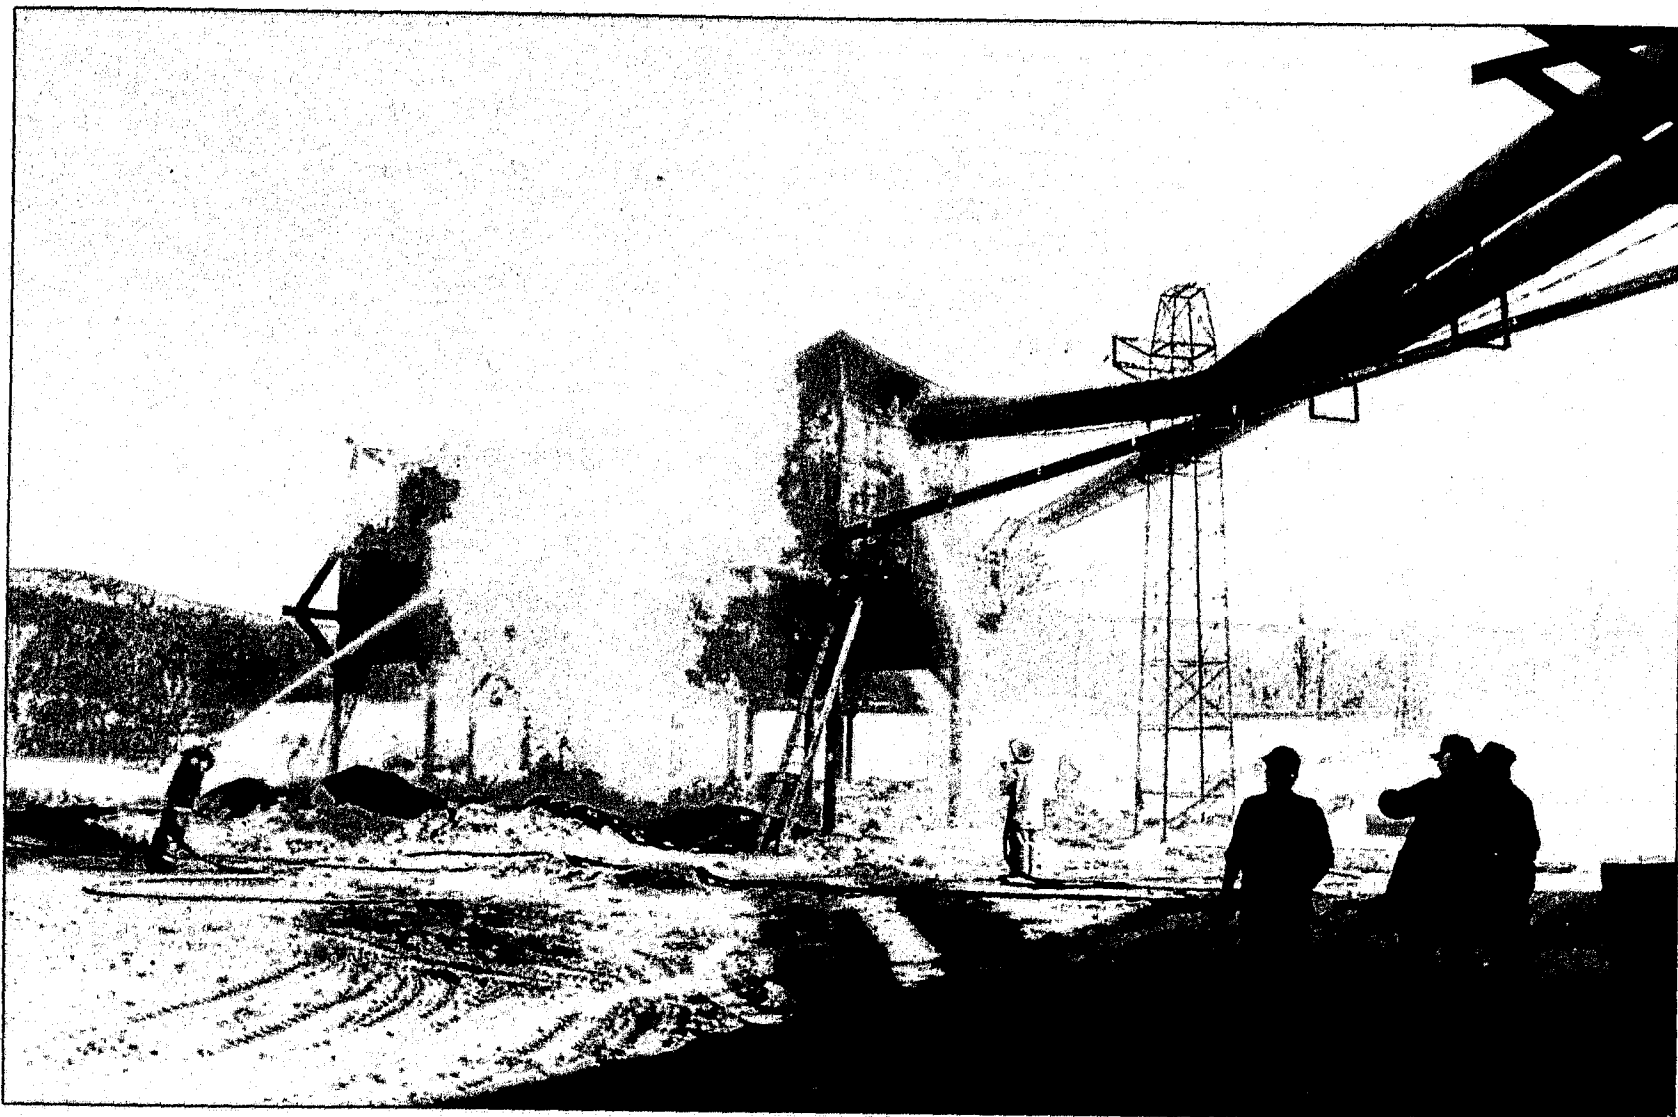

At a special meeting last Wednesday, the town planners stopped short of voting on a formal variance of the town's height requirement, but in an informal poll, individual board members appeared satisfied with Merrill's plans.

"You've given the developer a real feeling for where you're at," said Town attorney Geoffrey Hole, who attended the meeting. "I'm sure that should be sufficient."

Merrill also submitted a site plan application last week, and following the meeting he said the board assurance on the height issue was strong enough that he was comfortable going ahead with further design work.

There are, however, still unresolved issues, notably just how high the hotel will be and how fires at the scene would be fought.

SHAVINGS SHED BLAZE--Bethel and Newry firefighters battle a fire last week at a shavings shed behind Newton & Tebbets in West Bethel. The fire, which was discovered Wednesday morning at 9:30, heavily damaged the upper part of the outbuilding. Mill owner Roy Newton estimated the damages at $15,000 to $20,000. The building was insured. By coincidence, the mill had conducted an emergency fire evacuation drill only a few days earlier, and when the fire was discovered, the mill's 78 employees were evacuated within two minutes. Two dozen Bethel and Newry firemen turned out to battle the blaze, along with six trucks, including Newry's ladder truck. B.E.A.R.S.'s volunteers also assisted at the scene. Foreground: Archie Young, Don Vautour and Reggie Westleigh check out the action.

SAD44 Budget Hearing Monday

The SAD44 Board of Directors will hold a public hearing on the $7,018,933 FY '95 district budget on Monday, May 16 at 7 p.m. in the Telstar High School auditorium.

The local assessment for the general fund and adult education budget is $3,864,555, which is about a 12 percent increase.

School tax increases to individual SAD44 towns will go up by 12.68 to 16.64 percent.

The district-wide vote on the proposed budget is scheduled for Wednesday, May 25, at 7 p.m. in the Telstar auditorium.

School Board OKs block scheduling

By WENDY HANSCOM

The SAD44 Board of Directors has approved "block scheduling" for Telstar High School.

The board voted unanimously Monday to allow the school to go to longer class periods.

The school currently schedules seven 42-minute periods a day and each class is held daily.

In the fall, the schedule will change to three 85-minute periods and one 42-minute period. Individual classes will meet every other day in a two-week cycle.

"It's going to mean something different from what I call 'chalk and talk,'" said Telstar Principal Theodore Davis. "For 85 minutes you're not going to be able to do that. Classes will be able to go into more depth within the larger block of time. Staff is behind it and students are excited about it."

Other business

The board also heard an update on the Crescent Park School addition. Project clerk-of-the-works Jim Reuter said new and renovated classroom wings of the building should be ready for student occupancy by September.

After school opens, contractors may still have some minor inside work to complete on the gymnasium/multi purpose wing of the building, Reuter said.

The board also approved Telstar Middle School Principal Bruce Bell's transfer to the Woodstock Elementary School. Bell will serve as teaching principal/guidance counselor at WES.

Bethel candidates sign up

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel voters will have at least four candidates to choose from when they elect a new selectman on June 14.

The deadline for submitting nomination papers was 5 p.m. Tuesday (after The Citizen's deadline), and as of early afternoon Harry J. Faulkner, Jane Rolfe Lowe, Larry G. Smith and Richard H. Whitney had all submitted papers for the three-year vacancy.

The incumbent, Norman Putnam, had announced earlier that he would not seek reelection, in order that he could devote more time to his position as the town's Code Enforcement Officer.

Two SAD44 School Board positions, both for three years, are also open this year, but there are likely to be only two candidates. Incumbent Frances M. Tyler, who was appointed last year to fill out the term of Cheryl Eliot, has filed papers; and Wende Gray had taken out papers and was expected to file them by the deadline, according to town clerk Merton Brown.

Voters will also select someone to replace Putnam for a three-year term on the Board of Assessors. As of a few hours before deadline, only Larry Smith Sr. had filed papers for that position, but Roger Conant had also taken papers out.

This year's vote is expected to be the last to be held in the firehouse. Next year town voting will shift to the renovated and expanded Crescent Park School.

Local employment picture brightens

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Unemployment in the Rumford Labor Market fell to 9 percent in March, down from 10.2 percent in February and 9.5 percent in March 1993.

The total number of jobs in the area also increased, with 240 more people employed than in March of the prior year, according to figures recently released by the Maine Department of Labor.

Labor Department officials, however, have urged caution in interpreting the new figures, since the boundaries of the Rumford Labor Market have recently been redrawn. The area now includes all of the SAD44 towns, including Greenwood and Woodstock, which had previously been included in the Oxford Hills Labor Market.

The Rumford Labor Market now extends from Bethel to Canton.

Countywide unemployment stood at 10.6 percent in March, down from 10.8 percent in March 1993.

Gerard Dennison, western area economic analyst for the state Labor Department, attributed the improvement in the Rumford area job picture to the growth of Sunday River Ski Resort and a slight increase in retail sales.

But those pluses were somewhat offset, he said, by problems in the modular home industry in southern Oxford County, where some Rumford area residents commute to work.

Statewide drop

The statewide unemployment rate for March, of 6.9 percent, was the lowest rate recorded in Maine since September 1992, according to acting state labor commissioner Mary Lou Dyer. "The lower unemployment rate is consistent with other economic indicators, including non-farm wage and salary jobs over the past year," Dyer said.

The number of unemployed persons dropped by approximately 4,000 people between February and March of this year.

Other New England states reporting their seasonally adjusted March unemployment rates were: Massachusetts, 5.9 percent; Vermont, 4.9 percent; and New Hampshire, 4.6 percent. The U.S. adjusted March rate was 6.5 percent.

Seasonally adjusted nonfarm wage and salary employment remained essentially unchanged between February and March. There were 521,000 nonfarm jobs in March, an increase of 5,200 over the year. Contributing to this over-the-year gain in nonfarm employment were increases in services, manufacturing, retail trade, and finance, insurance, and real estate. The only significant employment drop was recorded by government.

Maine's unemployment rate, not seasonally adjusted, was 8.6 percent in March, down from 9.3 percent in February and 9.2 percent a year ago. The unadjusted U.S. rate was 6.8 percent in March, 7.1 percent in February, and 7.3 percent a year ago.

Rebels take aim at baseball playoff spot

By WENDY HANSCOM

On the surface it might look like the Telstar High School baseball team is in for a rough season.

The Rebels have only eleven players on their varsity squad and four of them are freshmen.

The team's had no early-season practice on its home field. Much of the outfield is still swampy, and in-field practice was scheduled for the first time only last week. The field may not even be ready for home play this week. The team may schedule some games at Gould Academy and postpone others.

Rebel bats have been unusually cold. The team is 2-3 so far for the season.

But despite these obstacles the Rebels have strong pitching, a solid defense, hitting that's improving, and a shot at a spot in the western Class C state playoffs, according to Coach Robert Remington.

Last season the team posted a 7-8 season and lost 16-4 to Erskine Academy in the preliminary playoff game. It was the Rebels' first playoff game since 1989.

The team lost three players from that team, Steve Remington, Nathan Emery and Jon Thurston, but seven lettermen are back.

Returning this year are seniors Sean Gilson, Chris Howe and Bill Chase; juniors Tim Remington and Peter Misericordi and sophomores Adam Newell and Josh Adams.

Freshmen on the varsity squad are Clint Myers, Ken Mason, Cory Koel and Wade Luxton.

LET'S WORK TOGETHER

To the Editor:

Thank you very much for your editorial last week regarding the new movement to seek Newry's withdrawal from SAD #44. In his book "The Seven Habits of Highly Effective People" Stephen Covey points out that individuals mature through a continuum from dependence to independence and finally to interdependence. "Dependent people," he says, "need others to get what they want. Independent people can get what they want through their own effort. Interdependent people combine their own efforts with the efforts of others to achieve their greatest success."

I believe that towns are no different. It is by combining our talents and resources that we provide the best service to our residents, whether that service be fire protection, solid waste management, recreational offerings, or education. I believe that we would all be better served by working together to improve the regional school system than by dismantling it into its independent parts.

SATURDAYS WITH DAD AT CHAPIN'S

To the Editor:

As I kicked aside a Texas drift clod to help a mud puddle drain out of my work area today, I drifted back to Bethel, and remembered how I used to assist Mother Nature in the annual spring snow melt on Chapman Street. Then I drifted back a little farther, to a typical 1955-1960 Saturday afternoon at Pete Chapin's Shell Station.

Who am I? Why, I'm Pick Eames' little boy. The one sitting in the old metal lawn chair in the office at Pete's, entertaining my dad's friends and Pete's customers. No, the one with the pipe is Ted Gallant. I'm the little guy who feels like a real man because Dad lets me hang out down here, and his friends all make me feel like one of the gang. Dad (Rodney Eames), is out back building a tractor, while I'm eyeing the nickel candy bars, wishing I had a dime, and Walter Jodrey and Ted Swan would often find that extra nickel—I was a cute kid. Now I could buy a pack of Kraft caramels. I would pretend that it was plug tobacco -- why, I'll never figure out, because I didn't even know anyone that chewed. But I would kick back in one of the old green chairs, sip on a Mt. Zircon Lemmy Soda, and listen to man talk. I felt honored because my dad let me join him with his friends. Most of the old regulars, like Pete Chapin, are gone now, along with the $1.50 lube job that included a car wash and vacuum. Real value for your money. Truth, honor, dependability, that's what these men stood for, and they instilled these values in me. A day's work for a day's pay. Honesty is the best policy. My country right or wrong.

I miss those days. I miss those old men. And I'll be missing one more of them real soon, so the doctors say. Dad, thanks for taking me to Pete's.

$5,000 FOR OLD, GREASED POL

To the Editor:

It is no surprise to learn that Joe Brennan is giving a meal to businessmen of the Democratic Party, suggesting that they pay $5,000 for the baloney and potatoes.

It's just disgusting. It's very "old."

For the voter who wants vision from someone who is not a greased politician, may I refer him/her to Richard Barringer?

Barringer is on leave of absence as the director of The Edmund S. Muskie Institute of Public Affairs for the University of Southern Maine. His prior experience includes Public Land Director for Gov. Curtis; Commission of Conservation (Longley); Director of State Planning (Brennan, the first time).

For the common good of Maine, Barringer co-founded MaineWatch Institute and Western Mountains Alliance.

His vision for Maine citizens includes: campaign reform; 25 percent local property tax cut; 50 percent cabinet for women; doubling public land protection; ending CMP/Bangor Hydro monopoly; "single-payer" health insurance; creating small business equity fund; a 50 percent increase in state school aid.

Barringer is bright, articulate, genuinely concerned for Maine and its citizens, and very up-front honest. He knows how to plan for and lead Maine government for its citizens.

Have breakfast with him sometime. It won't cost $5,000. It won't be lottiered as a tourist attraction, either.

KEVIN IS AT REST

To the Editor:

I would like to thank all of you for your letters and cards to Kevin Pillsbury. Kevin appreciated each and every one. He looked forward to the mail every day.

Kevin is at rest and peace now. Thank you for the happiness you brought him.

Ferguson seeking District 24 Senate seat

NORMAN FERGUSON JR.

Norman Ferguson Jr., an Oxford County Commissioner for the past 26 years, is seeking the newly created State Senate seat for District 24. Ironically his is the same district number Ferguson's father held when he served Oxford County for four terms.

In the mid-sixties, the elder Ferguson, a senator and later state treasurer, gave his son a set of District 24 license plates, remarking that "You may be able to use these some day," Ferguson recalled. The plates are still in their original envelope and have never been used.

When the Maine Supreme Judicial Court reapportioned the Senate last year for the 1994 election, the northwestern Oxford County District, previously numbered 16 and 8, became District 24.

"The chances of this happening are extremely remote, in fact one in 35," Ferguson said, referring to the number of senate districts in Maine. "With my announcement as a candidate for my dad's old Senate seat 24, the opportunity to use these plates will be in the hands of the voters."

Ferguson was first elected to the Oxford County Commission in 1968 and has served continuously. He currently serves as chairman of the three-member board.

Ferguson is a 1952 graduate of Gould Academy. After serving in the U.S. Army, he graduated from Burdett College. He went to work as an accountant for Boise Cascade in 1957 and later was promoted to purchasing agent. He retired in 1991 after 38 years.

A U.S. Army veteran of the Korean War, Ferguson is a director of the Androscoggin Valley County of Governments, the Oxford County Regional Solid Waste Corp., and Oxford Federal Credit Union. He is a trustee for the Rumford Point Congregational Church, has been involved with Boy Scouts and is the moderator for the annual Hanover Town Meeting.

He is a member of the Hanover and Oxford County Republican committees, the American Legion, the Rumford Lodge of Elks, National Rifle Association, Multiple Use Association, Bethel Historical Society, Mahoosuc Land Trust, Sportsman's Alliance of Maine, Saint Andrews Society of Maine and The Concord Coalition.

During his 26 years as county commissioner, Ferguson has been involved in the construction of a new jail and a county airport, both with primarily federal money. Oxford County has one of the lowest annual budgets in the state and has no bonded indebtedness. Ferguson was responsible for setting up a budget committee of area selectmen to approve the annual county budget at the local level.

Ferguson is married to the former Barbara Cole of Bethel and has four adult sons: Scott of Fryeburg, Douglas of Dixmont, Dan of Cumberland and Robert of Hanover, N.H.

Senate District 24 includes the towns of Hanover, Lovell, Hartford, Sumner, Newry, Woodstock, Roxbury, Rumford, Gilead, Stow, Fryeburg, Byron, Waterford, Upton, Peru, Bethel, Greenwood, Lincoln Plantation, Albany, Mason, Milton, Andover, Canton, Brownfield, Stoneham, Mexico, Magalloway Plantation, Hiram, Dixfield and Buckfield.

Mutual aid forest fire cost sharing shifts

By WENDY HANSCOM

Members of the Northern Oxford Mutual Aid fire department association will now fight forest fires for free -- but only for the first eight hours of the burn.

NOMA members used to bill neighboring towns for fighting forest fires, and the state reimbursed towns 50 percent of the costs.

But the state subsidy formula was changed this year. Now, the state will reimburse 100 percent of forest fire expenses, but only if fighting the burn costs more than one and one half percent of one percent of the towns' state valuation.

In Newry, for example, the expense of fighting a forest fire would have to be more than $250,000 before the state would kick in any money.

Because the state subsidy was changed, NOMA fire departments -- Bethel, Newry, Gilead, Andover, Woodstock and Greenwood -- have agreed to provide the first eight hours of forest fire fighting for free.

After the eight hours are up, NOMA members will continue to allow free use of their equipment, but will bill for manpower expenses.

If a forest fire breaks out in Bethel, for example, other NOMA fire departments would provide free manpower for eight hours and then bill Bethel for any time over that.

Maine's Tax Travelers

By MIKE BROWN

Gov. John McKernan suggested to his administration earlier this year that a way to save some money was to curtail out-of-state travel by state agencies.

But if that was meant to be a freeze, it soon turned to slush.

The third fiscal quarter -- January to March -- of Maine's budget year contains the worst of weather. A nice time to get away to warmer climes for state employees on state monies.

The Big Pine Junketeer, as always, is the University of Maine system. During the three-month third quarter, its out-of-state travel bill totaled $780,344. UM travel expenditures are categorized. There are four sources of money used for travel. (1) Education and general -- monies supported by student tuition and fees and state appropriation. (2) Auxiliary enterprise -- self-supporting activities such as dorms, dining halls and bookstore.

And, (3) Grants and contracts -- externally supported activities whereby the donor restricts funds to specific purposes. (4) Designated -- unrestricted gifts.

However, the heft of UM out-of-state travel ($545,874) was from the (1) general category.

Sports' travel to warmer states during the Maine winter was expensive and frequent. Examples: men's soccer team to Naples, Fla. ($4,407); women's swim team to Naples, Fla. ($4,407); cheerleaders to Dallas, Texas ($8,505); women's basketball team to New York City ($4,858); men's basketball team to Chicago ($7,640); hockey team to Canton, N.Y. ($9,914).

Also, spring softball training, Orlando, Fla. ($19,867); spring baseball training, San Jose, Calif. ($26,940); men's swim team to Newark, Del. ($5,045).

It wasn't all jocks over the yellow brick tax road. A UM instructor traveled to Casablanca, Morocco ($2,145) for a "Planning for Peace Corps Training Program." Another attended a Kathmandu, Nepal ($1,862) "Himalayan, Karakorum, Tibet Workshop."

The Maine Technical College System had some sun time, also. Such as an instructor to New Orleans ($1,482) for "The World of Concrete '94."

All the bureaucrats going out of state were not academics. Public Safety sent one person to an Ottawa, Ontario, polygraph school ($3,060), two men to San Antonio, Texas, for forensic science school ($2,773), and two troopers for bomb squad training at the FBI's school in Huntsville, Ala. ($3,819).

The Dept. of Administration & Financial Services sent a goodly bunch of personnel around the country ($41,533) for staff training workshops and tax seminars.

Much of the governor's travel is paid for by his out-of-state hosts. However, several McKernan staffers, including chief of staff, Sharon Miller, did attend the National Governor's confab in Washington with their boss at a cost of $1,279. And that recent trade trip to South America? Gov. McKernan said it cost the state only $120.

The Dept. of Labor had a Maine exodus of 94 personnel to other states for training purposes. But most of this tab was on the federal dole. The same for the heavy travelers throughout the Dept. of Transportation which uses mostly federal funds.

Post-John Martin, the Legislature is doing very well cutting down on winter travel. Third FY quarter out-of-state travel totaled $5,743. Some travelers: Senate Majority Leader Don Esty attended, a Virginia states leader conference in March ($395); Rep. Anne Larrivee, a NCSL judiciary conference ($944); Rep. Hugh Morrison, a NCSL seminar on school funding at Dallas, Texas, in March ($922).

Also, Rep. Charlene Rydell, a NCSL health policy task force ($255) and Rep. Ellen Walker, a New England, Lincoln Institute on Land Policy Conference ($141).

House Clerk Joe Mayo and Assistant Clerk Millicent MacFarland traveled to Denver, Colo., to attend a NCSL clerks and secretary chairs seminar ($1,317).

But alas, most Mainers, in and out of government, stayed home by the fires.

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

Oxford County Sheriff Lloyd Herrick was the featured speaker at the Society's May monthly meeting, detailing the history of the Oxford County Jail from the County's founding in 1805. Sheriff Herrick described the jail on Paris Hill (now the library) where just a few prisoners could be housed. In the 1890s, the jail was moved to South Paris, where it is found today. In 1979 a modern facility replaced the one used for 80 years. Sheriff Herrick discussed the diets and conditions of inmates through the years and described conditions of today's prisoners.

During the business portion of the meeting, president Charles Raymond thanked Society Curator of Collections Randall H. Bennett and Society member Stephen T. Seames for their fine work in conducting the genealogical seminar sponsored by the Society on April 30.

President Raymond also announced that the next meeting would be held on June 2 and feature a presentation on the history of the brick Grammar School that once stood on the corner of Elm and High streets (when that street connected with Church).

It opened 100 years ago this year and was demolished in the mid-1950s. Anyone with photographs, artifacts, and memories to share for this program was urged to call Geraldine Howe at 824-3188 or the society office. The Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show was scheduled for May 28 and the annual birthday party for Dr. Mason will celebrate the 20 years the Dr. Moses Mason House has been open to the public. Life membership certificates were presented to William and Virginia Weston and Marlene Marshall by the president of the society.

Super Shop 'n Save opening in Oxford

OXFORD--The Oxford Shop 'n Save Food and Drug superstore will hold its grand opening ceremony on Sunday, May 15 at 8 a.m. The new 52,000 square-foot store is located on Route 26 in Oxford. Shop 'n Save Drug Store, now located at the Oxford Shopping Plaza will be moving into the new store. The former drug store will close May 14 and re-open May 15 in the new store. The grand opening starts a celebration during which the store will give away prizes each week, ending with a grand prize drawing for $1,000 worth of groceries.

Bancorp announces record earnings

PORTLAND--Bethel Bancorp, the parent company of Brunswick Federal Savings, Bethel Savings Bank and ASI Data Services, Inc. announced record earnings of $1,267,409 for the nine-month period which ended March 31, 1994. Bethel Bancorp earned $923,879 during the same nine-month period last year.

Primary and fully-diluted earnings per share for the nine months were $2.12 and $2.06 respectively, compared to $1.61 and $1.56 respectively for the same period last year.

Planning board grants permits

ANDOVER--The Andover Planning Board granted four building permits last week, including two porches.

Donald Reed of East Andover was granted permission to construct a 10- by 24-foot porch on his East Andover Road mobile home. Bradley Best of the East Andover Road also received permission to build a 10- by 18-foot screened porch on his home.

George Standeven, another East Andover Road resident, was granted a permit to locate a 14- by 68-foot mobile home on his property.

Kenneth Dixon was given permission to harvest timber within a shoreland zone. Dixon plans to cut timber on a 150-acre parcel he owns in the Horseshoe Pond area.

Robert Wheadon of Littlehale Road had requested a permit to move a 24- by 24-foot garage from his property there to another lot he owns on the North Andover Road, but the board said no permit was required.

Tuition hike at state tech schools

AUBURN--Maine technical college students will pay 5 percent more for tuition next year. The Board of Trustees of the Maine Technical College System approved the increase last week.

In-state students will pay $58 per credit hour next year, a $3 increase from the current $55. Out-of-state students will pay $6 more per credit hour, from $121 to $127.

Rising costs for utilities, employee benefits, unfunded federal regulations and new auditing requirements were cited as the reason why the colleges need more money.

Woodstock changing paving mix

WOODSTOCK--The town's road crew will switch to a new type of paving material as dictated by the state Department of Environmental Protection.

Road foreman Percy Monk said last week the town will use a water-emulsified asphalt paving mix, instead of the kerosene-based material used in the past. The MDEP says that evaporating kerosene from the old mixture has an adverse effect on the earth's ozone layer and the state's environment, Monk said.

Lake access discussed

ANDOVER--More than 40 people attended a hearing with Oxford County commissioners Saturday on whether the county should try to obtain access to public land on the south shore of Mooselookmeguntic Lake, including a boat launch.

Proponents of the plan said obtaining land to construct a four-mile road would open up the lake and public reserve lands in the area to increased recreation. Opponents of the plan said they were worried that building and maintaining the road would be too costly.

Mudslide closes Route 16 in N.H.

GORHAM, N.H.--A small mudslide Sunday afternoon took down trees and a utility pole and temporarily blocked Route 16. A 250-foot wide section of mountain in the Ledge Hill Spring area let go during the heavy rain and covered the highway with three to four inches of mud. No one was injured and no vehicles were damaged. State highway crews scraped the mud off the road.

Construction contracts top $76 million

AUGUSTA--Maine construction contract awards topped $76 million in March, exceeding the March 1993 figure of $50.2 million by 52 percent. At the end of three months, total contract value was $139 million, a three-percent decline from the first quarter of 1993.

The biggest gains were seen in non-building construction, which includes infrastructure and environmental work. The $23.8 million March total was more than double the same month last year, but was skewed somewhat by two contracts totalling $15.2 million for work on the Million Dollar Bridge between Portland and South Portland.

Septic system bids to go out again

WOODSTOCK--Selectmen are sending out bid specifications for the Whitman Memorial Library septic system project. Bid specs were sent out last fall, but selectmen said there was some confusion on what should be included in the bid price. The bids that came back were so low that selectmen were worried contractors would lose money on the job.

The specs were drawn up again with some clarification and are now available. Project materials will include two 1,000-gallon septic tanks, one heavy-duty tank to handle the sewage from the library and Grange and Masonic halls; a pumping station from the two halls; piping; a pump-failure alarm system; and insulation for the system. The town, Grange and Masons will each pay a third of the cost, which is expected to run between $3,000 and $4,000.

Water rates going up

ANDOVER--The Maine Public Utilities Commission approved a 132.66 percent rate increase for Andover Water District customers. The new rates were announced at Saturday's annual Water District meeting. The increase is based on a flat rate and unmetered service. When the increase is fully implemented in January, customer rates will have risen from the current $32 per quarter to about $75.

For this year, customers will pay increases of 36 percent on May 16 and 45.57 percent on Oct. 1. If district customers were metered, the initial increase would have been 75 percent, said Water District officials, but no installation of meters is planned. Andover resident Joe Madigan told Water District officials he will appeal the PUC rate increase approval.

From the Bethel Police log:

Smoking pan at Sudbury village

Police and the Bethel Fire Department responded Thursday to a report of smoke at a Sudbury Village apartment. The smoke was created by a pan, which had boiled dry on a kitchen stove.

In other police news last week, May 4, the Telstar Middle School principal reported an unwanted subject at the middle school. The juvenile was asked to leave the building.

May 7, police answered a report of a fight at the Backstage Restaurant. Police spoke to one man who was reluctant to go after being asked to leave. Police convinced the man to go home. On the same day, a Middle Intervale man reported losing his wallet on Main Street, and a Guilford resident reported losing her wallet on Church Street. Later in the day a juvenile, who was playing a guitar and soliciting money on Main Street, was asked to move along. He did.

May 8, Barbara Hart, 45, of Bethel was arrested for operating a motor vehicle after license suspension.

Baseball

The Rebels haven't been hitting well. "I've got to bet they'll hit a lot better than they have been," Remington said. "They'll come around."

But so far the turn around has been slow. Thursday the Rebels faced Lisbon and the Greyhound pitcher held Telstar hitless until the sixth inning.

But the Rebels bounced back

Monday, beating Dirigo 6-3, and in the pre-season Telstar batters showed plenty of potential.

Gilson hit over .700 in the pre-season. Newell, Howe, Koch, Adams and Miserochci also all hit the ball hard, the coach said.

"This is the first time since 1989 that we haven't had a weak spot in the batting order," Remington said. "Right now the bottom half of the lineup is hitting better than the lead-off batters."

One thing the Rebels shouldn't have to worry about this year is pitching.

This is Gilson's fourth year of varsity pitching and Remington's third. Howe, Newell, Myers and Mason also pitch.

At the beginning of the season, Remington said he was hoping the team would take the Mountain Valley Conference championship, but the two early losses will make that difficult.

"Because of those two losses," the coach said, "we may be out of the race for league champs. But we should make it into the playoffs."

The team is scheduled to play its first home game Friday against Carabec. Game time is 4 p.m.

Track squad lacks a home field advantage

By WENDY HANSCOM

Telstar High School's boys' and girls' track teams have a few more members this year, but without a track to refine their skills on, it's doubtful the teams will have much success at the state Class C regional and state meets.

Both the girls and boys have good jumpers and weight throwers. But the boys have few middle distance runners and the girls don't have enough sprinters to field a relay team, according to team coaches.

Boys flying high, throwing long

The boys' track team's first out- ing ended in a tie with non-league competitor Hebron Academy. The Rebels lost a Mountain Valley Conference meet last week to Jay and Dirigo, scoring 19 points.

Junior Todd Wing is consistently scoring points in the jumping events. The Rebels also have several weight throwers pitching in some points.

Returning lettermen include: sophomores Ian Richardson, high hurdles and javelin; Jason Koskela, sprints; Sean Hawkes, jumps; Justin Hutchins, middle distance runs and Joel Dakin, weights.

The young team has several newcomers including juniors: Rob Greenwell, distance runs, Peter Farrington, middle distance and Jamie Mason, middle distance.

Sophomores: Jeff Angevine, shot put; Wesley Dumont, weights; Kevin Marshall, sprints and discus;

Adam Luxton, weights; Wesley Richardson, weights; and Chuck Mason, sprints, middle distance and discus.

Freshmen: Tim Adams, sprints and jumps; Jason Billings, distance; Dan Emerson, hurdles and javelin; Fred Emerson, hurdles and relays and Justin Gilbert, middle distance.

Coach Russell Tornrose said Wing jumped far enough in the triple jump at Hebron to qualify for the state regionals, but needs to repeat the jump in a league meet in order to compete in the regionals.

Before the season is over, Tornrose said, three or four Rebels will probably qualify for the regionals. Their performance in the regional meet determines whether or not they will qualify for the state Class C meet.

"We're very young, with a lot of freshmen and sophomores," Tornrose said. "If they hang together and we get another good class coming along we'll be pretty powerful. But they'll probably struggle a little bit this year."

No track hinders Rebels

Not having a track to practice on, puts the Rebels at a disadvantage.

"The kids get discouraged not having a track and having to get out there and pound the pavement every day," Tornrose said. "The kids don't even know exactly what some of the distances are. We can't measure them out and run them on the road, it's too dangerous. The place they practice is in the meets."

The Telstar Track Boosters have raised about $6,000 toward a new track, which is far short of the $180,000 to $300,000 needed to build the track, according to fundraiser Sarah Craig.

A new committee is also working on acquiring grant money for the track. Once the boosters have enough money, they may also ask for volunteer labor and equipment.

The boosters hope to locate the track on the school's upper field and move the softball and field hockey fields to behind the school.

The new softball/hockey field would need to be built first. Craig said.

Girls young, can only get stronger

Girls' track coach John Applin also has a few more runners, jumpers and weight throwers to work with this year.

The girls team lost its first non-league outing at Hebron Academy, but won against Jay last week.

The team lost only three athletes. Terri Applin and Trinity Knoll graduated, and Augusta Yates is sitting out this season.

Returning this year are seniors Jen Bowie, distances; Cheri Myers, jumps; Angie Mills, sprints; Robin Palmer, weights and Melissa Howe, weights; junior Amy Howe, distances, and sophomores Seneca Brooke, weights; Sarah Hart, hurdles, Dawn Waisanen, jumps and weights and Heather Knapp.

Newcomers include seniors: Jamie Bolin, weights; Sara Brooks, jumps and Misty Hutchins, middle distance.

Sophomores: Brandi Brooks, weights; Cora Gallagher, weights and Jessica Reynolds, jumps.

Freshmen: Dareth Howard, sprints; Jana Mason, weights; Jessica Pike, jumps and sprints and Sarah Seames, jumps.

So far, Myers has turned in some good performances in the high, long and triple jumps, Applin said.

Other Rebel point scorers are Amy and Melissa Howe. Amy has already qualified for the regionals in the 1,600 meter run.

"It's a good young crowd," Applin said. "It won't get weaker next year."

Several underclassmen are improving at each meet, the coach said, and should begin scoring points soon.

The Rebels have a lot of depth in the weight and throwing events but are short on middle distance runners.

Telstar isn't fielding a relay team. A Rebel relay team took sixth at the state Class C meet last year, Applin said, but this year he can't field a competitive relay team.

Without a track the Rebels have no home meets, but the boys and girls are scheduled to compete Thursday at Mountain Valley at 3:30 p.m. -- about as close to home as they get during the season.

and Eva Paul.

"We're awfully young and very inexperienced," Lunney said. "Plus, we're not hitting well, but we're getting better."

Over the next two years, the coach said, the team will get some experience and hopefully play better.

"We're hanging in there," Lunney said. "We hope to get better and be competitive. The kids will get older and stronger and within the next two years we should be right back in there."

Softball team faces rare rebuilding year

By WENDY HANSCOM

Telstar softball coach Jim Lunney has an unusual challenge this spring -- rebuilding.

For the first time in 13 years, the Rebels will probably not make it into the state Class C playoffs, Lunney said.

The team lost eight starters to graduation and four other lettermen opted not to turn out this year.

Last year Telstar posted a 15-2 record and lost 13-9 to Falmouth in the Western Maine Class C playoff game final.

The team is 0-6 for this spring.

Telstar has only one returning veteran, Lunney said, but a lot of young, enthusiastic players.

Joining the alumni ranks in June were: Dani Bernier, Staci Kangas, Noelle Gauthier, Jen Perival, Faith Luxton, Pam Bennett, Suzanne Richardson and Mae Lynn Patten. Sitting out this season are seniors Misty Hutchins, Jen Bean and Kelsey Cross and junior Jaime Orrok.

Junior Amy Patten is Telstar's only returning starter. She's playing second base.

Other Rebel starters include: junior pitcher Angie Lovejoy, sophomore catcher Becky Chandler, junior first baseman Laura Seames, sophomore pitcher and outfielder M.J. Learned, junior third baseman Shye Buck, sophomore outfielder Katie Mullen, freshman shortstop Beth Howe, freshman outfielder Sarah Richardson and junior outfielder Lori Davis.

Other newcomers include: sophomore Mandy Sysko, and freshmen Megan Meisner, Jessica Cantello, Jessie Wight, Sam Poland

at length about the final height of the building, and Stan Howe expressed concern regarding the height of the hotel cupola relative to other buildings in town.

Howe also worried that in future years the town might eventually be forced to buy a ladder truck to fight fires at the hotel. "By granting a waiver we're opening the town to this expense," Howe said.

Attorney Hole told the board, "You do have the right to be satisfied there's adequate fire protection -- it's a matter of how far out in the future you want to go."

Hole also assured the board that the town would not be liable for "its inability to put out a fire," if, for example, a ladder truck from Newry or Andover were not available.

Both the actual height and firefighting issues are expected to be discussed further at tonight's regular meeting of the Planning Board. The Bethel Fire Department has also asked to meet with Merrill to discuss firefighting at the hotel.

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

Dear Frankie,
It seems like forever and a day since you came to visit. Where've you been? I'm writing to you from my computer station, aka hallway-that-leads-to-the-front-door, on this very sunny morning in May, the eve of Mothers Day. In addition to my very self, there are signs of motherhood all around to remind me of the phenomenon of procreation that continues to thrive here and in towns and cities around the wondrous world.

Out on the back slope there are two bluebird houses. One of these has been scouted by a pair of lovely bluebirds, and we are still hoping that they'll return and sign a lease. Meanwhile, the old reliable swallows have taken occupancy of the second house and are busily twittering back and forth with nesting materials in tow. According to swallow legend, these determined little folk are very territorial, and will therefore not allow another pair of their kin to move in next door. That's why we hang on the hope that the second 'condo' will remain available for the rarer and ever more cerulean twosome.

While the world waits for Vanna to bear her boy, and while your neighbors up there in Bath join us Bethelites and others in the viewing audience in cheering Cindy as she makes Lee a father, the folk here in West Bethel delight in the appearance of the baby girl who recently made Richard and Beth Littlefield parents, and Dick and Nesta proud grandparents once again. And we eagerly anticipate the announcement of the safe arrival of the twins who will transform Christine and David Hanscom into grandparents for the first time, via Becky and her Charles.

As the mating and birthing rituals continue to make brooding mothers out of once carefree spinsters, and protective fathers of footloose fantoccinis, I brood on the novelty of territorial behavior. Just recently, Uncle Donald and I returned from a visit to the new condo space of our friends, Joan and Paul. It (the condo) sits on the edge of a marsh, overlooking a bird sanctuary that is a wonder to behold... and since I remembered to bring along the binoculars AND the bird books, I was in sitting-deck heaven for three days running!

When we weren't distracted by the movement of great blue herons, snowy egrets, lesser yellowlegs sandpipers, and diving black ducks that defied classification, we sat mesmerized by the sedate and oh-so-patient brooding of a mute swan. She and her mate had built a nest on the highest point of land in the marsh, directly in front of the aforementioned condo, and surrounded by water each time the Long Island Sound came in to allemande with the Housatonic River. We watched by the hour for some clue that the eggs were ready for hatching... our friends had been on the alert for a month, and indicated that the 'period of confinement' should come to a crackling finish soon. For all the days of our visit we checked as the swan snuggled on top of her grassy dome. Her helpmate stayed nearby, scooping great beakloads of grassy matter toward her as she rebuilt the sagging incubator each time the tide receded. And occasionally, while she slept, he would swim away for a while...perhaps to exchange silent pleasantries with the hundreds of expectant fathers visible in the distant bay. But inevitably he returned, gliding along the grassy shore to share the waiting once again. We left after five days of waiting, the eggs whole, the mother patient in her downy comfort.

One complete brake job and an unexpected night in a motel later, we arrived home in time for me to launder the traveling duds and head for New York City with my sisters and the mother who began her own brooding almost sixty years ago. The focus of this trip was to check out the newly acquired nest of the eldest sister (the one who hovers near sixty), who had managed to raise her own chickies in territory that belonged to an absentee landlord. And then, with her nest empty, she and her mate decided one fine day to 'get into real estate'.

The female contingent of an extended family (all but the eldest in question) who have held property for decades, and who are ready to downsize if not completely unload, traveled with mixed anticipation to survey the 'charming older home', nestled in the heart of the burrough of Queens, two streets removed from the elevated railway, and just two busrides and one trainride (in that order) from the spot where each of these sexagenarian wannabes happens to work! (each, singular...happens; singular)

We "oohed and aah-ed" in all the right places as our senior sibling toted her captive audience upstairs and downstairs and even into what the old German seller of this questionable magnificent property called her 'sauerkraut room' down in her old German cellar... don't ask... by the time we saw it, the space was filled to the brim with Gerald's old American collection of 78rpm records for which he does not possess a 78rpm turntable!

Each morning we three sisters of the open spaces headed up the sidewalks of New York in search of fresh air and exercise... the "wait-till-you-see-my-backyard-with-its-wonderful-gardens", as spoken by the new owner, our sister of the city, turned out to be a space of maybe twenty feet by forty feet, with narrow perennial borders and fences that warded off two vicious dogs on one side, an ivy covered garage for someone else's car on another, and three tiny back yards (one of which was obliterated by a small round above-ground pool) all in a row and all abutting her wire fence! The fresh air was relative; the exercise was limited by the concrete territory and its concrete litter; but the freedom from closeness was welcome.

We spent three whole days at Peg's new house, admiring the ancient plumbing that sprang a major leak during sister Geri's morning shower, contemplating the layers of paint and paper that would need to be stripped, and looking for suitable outlets for our hairdryers...all the while maintaining the pretense that this place was the "cat's meow"! After all, this is the major domo of our major soror... and her 89 year old mother with the poor eyesight was simply thrilled that her 60ish firstborn had "finally settled down". What we never did figure out was how the builder of this house and many others in the neighborhood managed to squeeze between houses (in many cases a space of a mere twelve to fourteen inches, I kid you not!) to do the exterior sheathing...

and what will also remain a mystery for the ages is why the original owner and/or builder placed a magnificent stained glass window at the foot of the stairs on the side of the house that sits a foot from the side of the next house, thereby neutralizing any chance whatsoever that the sun will ever shine upon the glorious glass!

On our last morning, having secured the name of a local plumber to clean up the mess from that last fateful shower, and stopped around the downed ex-cop-turned-security-person who lay on the sidewalk, his arm broken and wallet lifted by two muggers minutes before we emerged to load the car, we offered our congratulations once again, hugged our sister of the highly cerebral but dubious mentality, promised to return soon (some promises are meant to be broken!), and hid it to the nearest bridge that would take us off that overcrowded island and back north to the serenity of our own lives.

As I said above, I brood on the novelty of territorial behavior... each of us has a choice... each of us makes a nest where we feel safe... I never felt safer than I did as I crossed the bridge into Maine and into the realm of space and relative quiet!

I've decided to 'dig in' for the summer with my dahlias and my iris, my space and my freedom from mugging. Ask your enlightened and wonderfully tall mother to bring you back for a visit. And meantime, dear Frances of the heavenly hyperbole, pass along a belated Mothers' Day greeting to Anna, your mom, Nina, your grandmother, and Jeffrey, your dad and mister-mom of the year! Love, C.B.

On Sunday, May 3, Al and Crystal Lake celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. Sunday, May 1, they had a ceremony to reaffirm their wedding vows at the Praise Assembly of God Church in Rumford Center. The Rev. Robert Rainville performed the ceremony. There were about 40 family members and friends present for the ceremony. A reception was given for Al and Crystal after the ceremony by their family.

Congratulations are in order for Kathy and David Hemphill on the birth of a daughter, Ashley Lois, born May 2.

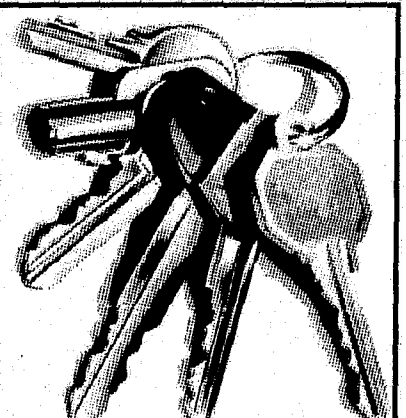

Doris Slattery is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital, with a broken hip, after having a fall at home.

We are also sorry to hear that a former West Paris resident, Lorenzo "Rennie" Cole is hospitalized in Virginia, where he is near his daughter, Priscilla Durbin.

Bill and Virginia Aridas of Holbrook, N.Y., arrived on Thursday to spend the weekend with her parents, Vernon and Miriam Inman.

There will be a public open house to celebrate the 25th wedding anniversary of Lloyd and Linda Record at their home on the Roy Road in North Paris. It will take place on Sunday, May 15, from 1 to 4 p.m. There will be a cookout and refreshments.

The Annual Meeting of the Bethel Riverside Cemetery Association will be held at the Bethel Area Health Center Wednesday, May 18, 1994 at 7:30 p.m.

By SHANE BILLINGS

The month of May makes our town look even more beautiful than usual. Herschel and Betty Abbott returned to Massachusetts on Wednesday after a lengthy stay here in North Woodstock.

Emma Billings was visited by Phyllis Lowe recently.

Bridget Billings and Kara Andrews spent part of Sunday playing together. They used Kara's grandparents' Nintendo and enjoyed some outdoor games as well.

Congratulations to Jason Billings on passing his test for Driver's Education.

Sterling and Irene Mills returned to their Rumford Avenue home from South Carolina on Friday, and I paid a visit to them along with my mother, brother, and sister.

Louise Chapman spent two days at Bog Brook with a group of kids from her school. They left on Sunday while it was raining and returned on a lovely Tuesday afternoon.

That's it from North Woodstock this week.

Bill and Paula Smith attended the Maine Snowmobile Association banquet in Bangor on April 23. New officers were elected for next year. Following the banquet and drawings of door prizes a dance was held. The winner of the Arctic Cat Jag was Steve Rice from St. Albans. Sorry Dale, you didn't win. Over 6,000 tickets were sold by snowmobile clubs for the raffle.

Former resident Letty Akers is celebrating her 100th birthday on May 23. Mrs. Akers, who spent vacations at the log cabin in East Andover, now resides in Massachusetts. Those wishing to forward birthday greetings may send cards to Mrs. Akers at 12 Morse Rd., Wayland, Mass., 01778.

Former residents Mr. and Mrs. William Nuppula of Owls Head were in town visiting over the weekend.

Lynne Plantier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Plantier of Mount Airy, Md., will graduate on May 22 from Towson State University. Lynne is graduating with Magna Cum Laude honors with a degree in Psychology.

Miss Emily Cummings of Concord, N.H. recently spent her kindergarten vacation with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Leon Akers.

Mrs. Dot Campbell has returned after spending the winter months in Randolph, Vt.

The Mud Stompers Ball will be held on Saturday, May 14, from 9-1 a.m. at the town hall. The band "Blood Relations" will play. Tickets are available at local stores or call Ken Jodrey at 392-2852.

Students at Andover Elementary receiving third quarter honors are: Mrs. Conrad's room - Lynsey Brown, Melissa Bailey, Jon Downs, Darin Morse, Jennifer Morin, Ben Sabin, Michael Sabin, Miranda Stinson and Christina Downs; Mr. Emery's Room - Erica Blood, Katrina Burgi, Jen Fyrberg, Amy Green, Nicole Krietton, Eric Swasey and Maria Cornwell.

The AES softball team will host Crescent Park for a home game on Monday, May 16, at 3:15 p.m.

The Archery Club will now meet on Sunday mornings at the elementary school parking lot at 9 a.m. They will practice on the Akers Ski Trails.

The Woodstock Historical Society notes that the author Nathaniel Hawthorne wrote of what he called "rich and somber reminiscences." The museum has a good variety of exhibits; they collect important artifacts, gather information and share ideas of the past. The society meets Saturday, May 14, at 7 p.m. Mr. Tibbets will speak on D.A.R.E.

Franklin Grange 24 met on Monday, May 1, with 30 members and two guests present. State Grange Chaplain Wayne Sherman and daughters Hilary and Connie Tuttle were all present, as it was a Deaf Awareness meeting. Bertha Benoit presented a very nice program on both deaf awareness and Mother's Day. The program was as follows:

opening thought by Bertha Benoit; opening song by all; Bertha gave points on how to talk to people who are hard of hearing; reading of the "Beatitudes" for the disabled; songs about mother by Harry Boyer with Dot Canwell on piano; myths about deaf people were read by Bertha; Hilary Sherman did a very good job of singing two songs; quiz on mothers; quiz on the deaf by Betty Kerr; Bertha sang a song about Mother, written by Olive Davis, and several ladies lit candles and said a little something; closing thought by Bertha; short remarks by several people. The next meeting will be May 16 with the Woodstock Elementary students. This is an open meeting.

The Woodstock Alumni Banquet will be held at the Telstar cafeteria on June 4 at 6 p.m. All who attended W.H.S. are welcome to attend, and all graduates of Telstar from the Woodstock-Greenwood area who wish. Those who will be guests are classes of 1924, 1934, 1944, and the graduates of Telstar from Woodstock and Greenwood and anyone who has asked for scholarships.

Tuesday at 4 p.m. is Bryant Pond hour on Channel IV TV.

Special speakers at the Baptist Church will be Austin Calder on Sunday, May 22, and Allan and Elsie Brough from Hospital Chaplaincy on May 29.

Bobby and Gwenn Hoyt and Maggie and Joseph Hoyt were weekend guests at the Ken Hoyts.

What a rainy day! There's still a little snow around, so maybe this will take it away and get on with spring and summer.

Leilani Bertrum has been visiting her parents, Leon and Rosalie Poland, recently. She has now returned to Orlando, Fla. Rosalie has been spending many hours working at Trap Corner Store recently.

Charbel Poland has now had cataracts removed from both her eyes and has remarkable vision now. She was real sick after the last one but is now doing fine.

I visited my brother Vernon at Ledgeview Nursing Home Sunday night. His wife Tommy and daughters Sandra Monzo and Tracy Grover were there visiting him also. Tracy is having a lot of work done on her house -- her kitchen and dining room and other improvements.

I read in the paper recently that Becky Chandler, a sophomore at Telstar High School, was one of the few to make the honor roll this time. Jeff Chandler, who is in the seventh grade at Telstar Middle School, also made the honor roll. Congratulations to you both.

Sarah Hart is celebrating her 16th birthday on May 10. Sarah is my granddaughter. How time flies!

Tommy Poland and I spent a morning with Joan Poland this week, making plans for the upcoming family reunion.

The Benson-Poland family reunion will be held Saturday, May 21. It will be held at Richard and Andrea Wing's home, or in case of rain or cold weather will be held at the South Woodstock Union Church. A potluck lunch will be held at 1 p.m. or so. Please bring lawn chair and your own sodas. Dotte Critser will be here from Arizona. More on this next week.

lamb's wool heaped over Overset Bluff.

The mountains were powerful against the horizon, where the pines were growing bluer by the minute. It was a morning often familiar to Maine.

Later, I walked up the Bulldozer Road. The granite crisped its lichens in the sun, while jungle-rich smells of mud and moss and wet leaves of last fall, lay beside the road.

The trees were full of wing flash and flutter. The bird calls were audible from the forest.

A pine-scented sun, rich and yellow,
reached into the shaded area.

I faced the mountains so serene
and beautiful; the blue sky, a canopy over all.

It was a pleasure to be out.

The sky and pond were like opposite mirrors reflecting the light thrown aloft then deflected so that the water was like copper, shot through the gold.

I encountered bracken which covered the floor of the forest. The brown of last year's ferns intermingling with the bright green of new spring plants.

I reached home happy that I had gone this road.

I was reminded of Nathaniel Hawthorne's words, "Happiness is as a butterfly, which, when pursued, is always just beyond your grasp, but which, if you will sit down quietly,
may light upon you."

Robert Holt, his son Richard and until Sunday.

On Sunday, other members of the Pond at one time.

Milton and Eleanor Inman had

East Stoneham

By ELEANOR NELSON

With so much bad news in the daily papers I was glad to see in today's paper that there was good news for a change, and that is that the U.S. has the safest and most regulated drinking water in the world.

Danny Romasco has been working recently cutting out a pathway to an old cemetery at North Stoneham.
This poor old cemetery has needed
work done and accessibility for so long. I'm glad to see it finally getting the attention and respectability it deserves.

Jean Mackenzie has sold her house
here in Stoneham and moved to South Paris. Her address is: 95 Park Street, Apt. 3, South Paris. Her nephew David and wife from Derry, N.H., were here to help her move,
also Marge and Dennis Farnsworth and Kate Flynn helped her, among others.

On Saturday, Eleanor Nelson attended the Republican Convention at the Augusta Civic Center as a delegate from Stoneham. It was a pleasant day and very informative
about the candidates up for office.
John Fox was the delegate from Lovell, and he also attended the program.

Gladys Kilgore's nephew, Paul
Taylor of New Hampshire, and son David of Portland were here this past weekend and did some inside
painting and discussed future repairs which are badly needed. These old houses get to a point that they need attention and fixing up, and it makes for more pleasant living. We have recently had new paneling done by Pete and Fred Fox, and it looks real nice and it is clean. They do a good job.

Don't forget the Firemen's
Booster Supper on May 14.

On Wednesday evening, the Oxford County United Parish held their regular meeting at the North Waterford Church vestry with 11 members present. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and accepted. Discussion was made regarding the special place mats,
and it was voted to not have them.

donations are gladly accepted.

NOTICE: Community and Parish church members are invited to a

Church on Thursday, May 12, at 7

who works for the United Church of Christ Conference Center, will be present to offer advice and guidance
regarding the future of the East Stoneham Church. Mr. White is knowledgeable of the problems of small churches, and with banking experience in his background he is a qualified financial adviser.

Anyone interested in continuing the East Stoneham Church is urged to attend this meeting.

North Newry

By GIL SEELEY

A service was performed Sunday morning, May 1, at the Newry Community Church with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was, "What it can become,"
from St. John 15:1-8. Also, during the service baby Noah Zebulon, son of Jock and Christine Morton was baptized. His maternal grandparents are Earl and Lucille Largesse of Upton, and his grandparents on his father's side are the late Albert and Eleanor Morton of Newry. Little Noah joins his brother Garrett. A poetic reading about the baby Noah, by Gil Seeley, followed. Coffee and goodies were served and a lot of conversation with old friends was enjoyed.

Louise Tetley and "Yours Truly"
went to the Rumford Community

House Health Center last Monday,
May 2, and visited with Amy and Roger Hanscom. Owen Wight dropped in while we were there, also another person, friend or relative, I don't know, stopped by. We found Amy and Roger in good spirits and looking good.

Five members of the "Newry
Bowling Gang" were at the Oxford
Lanes, Rumford, last week: Karlene
Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley and Doris Parent. On the overall scores Karlene was high on the triples, but Betsy beat her by one pin on the singles. Of the "Righties" Louise won by two pins over Doris on the triples, and also on the singles. Betsy had four spares, Karlene had three spares and Gil had one spare.

Newry community church business meeting will be held May 16 at 7 p.m. at the Newry Church.

The Recreation Committee will award six Newry students with $50 camperships to attend the camp of their choice this summer. Ages 5-18 are eligible. Those interested must write a letter to the committee on where and why they want to go.
Anyone 14 and older who is awarded a campership would be asked to do four hours of community service in exchange. Applicants must submit their letters to a recreation committee member by June 1. They may be sent to Kathy Trefethen, RR 2, Box 2006-10, Bethel, Me., 04217 or given to any committee member. Awards will be made at Community Day on Sunday, June 5. Various camps are offered by USM and brochures for these are at the town office.

Mr. and Mrs. Garard Dupont have returned recently from a five-week stay with their son Richard, who resides in Marathon, Fla. Richard is employed by a large construction company in Marathon, which is about 50 miles from Key West and near Key Largo. Edna and Garard fell in love with the climate and scenery and intend to go back again
next winter.

Josie Greenwood returned recently from a Ladies' Retreat, held by the Nazarene Church in Waterville.

Rose Taylor is adapting to a loss of sight in her "good" eye, due to diabetes. She can see to walk but is bothered about reading and doing her knitting. She still takes the senior citizen bus to Bethel on Tuesdays for the meals and does her errands, however. She wishes to remind folks that this bus service is available to our townfolks and gives one a good chance to run one's errands once a week. Call Rose on Mondays before noon, at 836-3684, if you are interested in partaking of this service.

Joanne Ferris has been looking after her grandchildren for the past couple of weeks, as both parents work. Joanne enjoys the children.

Audrey Franklin surprised me with a surprise "luncheon" at my home here one day last week. She brought "Chinese" chop suey and I furnished the desert. This kind lady brought me a unique bird feeder from Port Charlotte as well. But most of all, she brought herself and her enjoyable company, which I have missed over the long winter.
Thank you, Audrey -- you're the greatest!

Josie Greenwood has had a partridge feeding at her home, and I have had several flickers and a host of wild canaries as well.

Now that warmer weather is upon us, surely you folks will have some items to share in this column. Your cooperation would be greatly appreciated. Call me at 836-3673.
Thank you so much in advance.
Until next time, enjoy spring at Howdy folks. I'm back after enjoying a week in sunny Florida, but wish that I was still there. Yes, on Friday morning, April 22, Peggy

and I left here shortly after 5 a.m., bound for her daughter Myrna's in Auburn. Peggy left her car at their place and Myrna and husband Whitey took us to the airport in Portland where we took Mermaid
Transportation to LaGuardia Airport. To those who don't know, Mermaid Transportation uses Dodge passenger vans and makes five trips
each day to Boston and back to Portland. They deliver you right to the airport, where you are to take a plane, and on your return they pick
you up right at the baggage pickup.
We found it to be good and less expensive than flying to Boston from Portland.

We had a short wait in Boston but were soon on our way by U.S. Air.
We had to change planes in Charlotte, N.C., but the wait there was also minimal, and we enjoyed a very smooth flight all of the way.

When we arrived at Daytona Airport, Peggy's middle daughter, Kaye and husband Otto Blosssey, were there to meet us and take us to their new home in Eustis, Fla. It was 31 degrees above zero when we left home but was in the 80s when we arrived at Kaye's and Otto's place.

The following day we were some-surprised in the late afternoon when who should arrive but Kaye's oldest daughter Justine and her two small girls, Marissa and Celine, also Rusty Merrill from Georgia. They had left early in the forenoon and had made the eight-hour drive to Eustis. They stayed at a motel but ate some of their meals with us. We didn't expect to see them while we were in Florida, so we were really surprised when they drove in.

On Sunday, all but Otto went to Alexander Springs for much of the day. This is a park-like with lots of picnic tables and a small body of water to go swimming in. This body of water is fed by springs and supplies good bathing. We had a picnic lunch there, including grilled hot dogs and other foods. The place is well known and many people are enjoying all of its facilities. Peggy and I didn't go swimming but we tried our skill at lawn darts and found that skill was something that we didn't have. Anyway, we enjoyed the day.

On Monday, April 25, Kaye,
Peggy and I went to Disney World.
The others went to the beach. The girls had been to Disney World before, but this was my first visit there.
We rented a wheel chair and the two girls took turns pushing me around.
This way there was very little waiting in the hot sun, as they would take us right in the exits to the shows and give us good seating. Part of the shows I could stay right in the wheelchair, but had to change for some. It was rough on the girls, having to push me around, but by doing so we got to see lots more shows than we could have otherwise. We got to see many of the shows and sleayed until nearly closing time.
This was a day that I'll remember for a long time. Sometime, I'd like to do it all over again. It was fun.

Justine and two girls, also Rusty Merrill, left to drive back to Georgia on Tuesday morning. Near Gainesville, Fla., they ran over a muffler

that a car ahead of them had lost. It blew one front tire and badly damaged the pan under the transmission. Their vehicle was towed to a garage nearby where they went right to work repairing the damage. They were tied up there until 5 p.m. and then had a six-hour drive home, getting there about 11 p.m. It was a rough day for them, with two small girls, but it could have been much worse.

Wednesday morning, we went to a Friendly's Restaurant for breakfast.
I had a good supply of pancakes,
scrambled eggs and bacon and certainly didn't need anything more to eat for a while. We did some shopping and later in the forenoon
we joined a couple of their friends who had invited us to take a ride
with them on their pontoon party boat. We had to travel through a canal to get to the lakes, and we saw many wild birds and ducks, also alligators, turtles, raccoons and otters.
We very much enjoyed our ride
through the canal and into the lakes.
Kaye had taken a picnic lunch
along, and we enjoyed that while out on the lake. It looked like rain, so our trip wasn't as long as they had originally planned for it to be, but we enjoyed every minute of it.

Peggy had made a mince meat pie
in the forenoon, and that evening a friend of theirs, Roy Dresser, came for supper. Peggy had also made a batch of hot biscuits and we all had an excellent supper. Roy Dresser originally grew up in the Harrison or Bridgton area but moved to Florida
many years ago.

Thursday was our last day to enjoy Florida, and we did just that. We all went to a Denny's Restaurant for breakfast, but weren't all that satisfied.

Otto had to work for part of the forenoon but joined us for lunch at the Friendly's Restaurant where we had eaten before.

Thursday evening, we again got to meet the couple who gave us the boat ride, as they came over to enjoy
some coconut cream pie that Peggy had made in the forenoon. It was delicious and none was left for future use.

Friday was our day to return home, and we were up and around bright and early. Kaye and Otto have a beautiful new home that is well landscaped. We almost wished that we could stay longer, but duties
at home were calling us.

Our trip home was just the reverse of our trip to Florida. Kaye and Otto took us to Daytona Airport where we had only a short wait before we were on our way to Maine. We had to change planes at Charlotte, N.C.,
the same as when we went down.
We did have quite a long wait in Boston before being picked up by Mermaid Transportation for our ride to Portland. When we arrived in Portland, Peggy's daughter Myrna
and husband were waiting for us.

We spent the most of Saturday trying to get back into the old routine here at home. There was lots of mail to look through and dispose of. Much of it was junk mail that could be disposed of quite easily.

NEWRY SPRUCE UP

Saturday, May 14, is ballfield and playground spruce-up day in Newry. Ski equipment borrowed from the town should also be returned Saturday.

Cleanup starts at 9 a.m. and ski return is from 9 to 11 a.m. Bring shovels, rakes, hammers and a picnic lunch to help with the clean up.
The Recreation Committee will provide drinks.

Anyone who has ski equipment
and is unable to return it Saturday should contact a committee member, April Sykes, Lillian Gasked, Kathy Trefethen, Marlene Baker,
Denise Rodrick or Nancy Babcock
to make other arrangements.

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors is pleased to announce the recipients of the 1994 Annual Awards, which will be presented on Saturday evening, May 21, at our 25th Annual Award Banquet at the Summit Hotel at Sunday River Ski Resort.

All are welcomed to attend to enjoy the awards presentation. Kevin Mannix from WCSH-TV will be guest speaker; music will be presented by Ross Swain and art from the Explorations Art Program will be exhibited.

Tickets are $22 per person, which includes a full buffet dinner and hors d'oeuvres at the social hour and must be reserved by Wednesday, May 18, by calling the Chamber office at 824-2282.

Four Employee of the Year Awards will be given this year. In "Retail and Service," Brooks Brothers of Bethel has nominated their faithful employee of 40 years, Herbie Lyon, who is very deserving of recognition for his years of service to the company and the community.

In "Hospitality," Joan Putnam will be receiving the award. Joan has been an active community volunteer and has been a much loved employee of Sunday River Ski Resort for the past 11 years.

In "Wood Products," the Employee of the Year is Archie Lovejoy, a 44 year veteran at P.H. Chadbourne & Co. Archie is held in high esteem by his superiors and fellow workers and is involved in the West Paris Community, where he resides.

Finally, in "Ski Services," from Sunday River Ski Resort, John Devivo has been chosen for this recognition. John has always gone "way above and beyond to get his job done and serve the thousands of skiers he comes in contact with."

John also is a tremendous Chamber volunteer, chairing both the Ski Challenge and the Triathlon Committees. We are very proud to be recognizing the above area employees.

The "Senior Citizen Award" will be awarded to Helen H. Saunders. Helen has been the president of the Bethel Senior Citizen Organization and is also very involved in her roles with the Pleasant Valley Grange and the Ladies Aid of the West Bethel Union Church. We are pleased to be recognizing Helen.

The "Henry H. Hastings Award for Citizenship" will be given to Ken and Gwyneth Bohr of Bethel. This couple have been tireless volunteers for the 11 years they've resided in the area. Their volunteer commitments have included Androscoggin Home Health, STRETCH, Bethel/NTL Committee, many town committees, Friends of the Androscoggin, Mahosuc Land Trust, Historical Society and many others.

The "Business of the Year Award" will be given to the new owners of Ski Mt. Abram. The award committee felt that these new owners have done a fabulous job "turning around" the business and infusing a tremendous amount of effort to preserve this much loved business and jobs related to it.

The Chamber will also be giving recognition to two Telstar High School Seniors for excellent citizenship.

A "Special Recognition Award" will be given to the staff of Crescent Park School. The PTA nominated them for this recognition due to the fact that this group of professionals has made the transition of the move to the Telstar parking lot a wonderful opportunity for the 300 children who attend the school. They have taken potential adversity and made more than the best of it and have made it a year to remember by staff and students alike.

The Oxford County United Way's "Hugh J. Chisholm Award" for Community Service will be presented to Maryvonne Wheeler of Bethel. Charleen Chase, Executive Director of Community Concepts, a United Way agency, will be presenting the award.

The Chamber extends a sincere welcome who would like to come to this celebration. Call the office for tickets.

Hanover hearing on street names, house numbers

The Hanover Planning Board will hold a public hearing on street naming and house numbering on Thursday, May 12 at 7 p.m.

The hearing will take place at the Town House on Howard Pond Road. The action of street naming and house numbering is currently taking place in preparation for 911 emergency reporting to come to the area.

Requests for changes in street names will be addressed at this meeting. This system will be voted on at the June Town Meeting.

ST. JUDE'S BIKE-A-THON

A Bike-A-Thon to benefit the Saint Jude's Children's Research Hospital will be held on Saturday, May 14, 9 to 12 a.m., starting in front of the Bethel Inn.

The rain date will be Saturday, May 28, same time.

For information, call Patty Noll at 824-2571.

Legion Junior Auxiliary meets here

By OLIVE RISCO

From Limestone to Lubec, South China to South Paris and points between, Milo, Winthrop, Wiscasset, etc., Junior Auxiliary members gathered on April 30 at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills for their annual department convention, hosted by the Jackson-Silver Auxiliary, which had one Junior member, Crystal Wallace, present.

The American Legion Auxiliary Junior members are those who are from newborns to age 18. In Units where there are a sufficient number of Juniors, they form a Junior Unit, elect officers and conduct meetings of their own, training them to take their places in the senior organization when they reach age 18. They assist in all phases of the regular auxiliary programs.

At their convention on April 30 there were 55 who signed the guest book, half of them Juniors. The latter ranged in age from three through 17. During the morning they introduced distinguished guests: Dept. Pres., Alice Severance; Dept. V.P., Joyce Thurlow; Dept. Chaplain, Heather Beasley; Dept. Jr. Activities Chairman, Kathy Ryan; Dept. Americanism Chairman, Helen Audet and Department Music Chairman, Jeannette Holland conducted a business meeting and disposed of the funds they raised through registration of $1 each person at the convention. Half was given to Jackson-Silver Unit toward their expenses as the hostesses. The remainder was split between the special projects of this year's department president and commander. Hers is to furnish television sets for the new division at the Togus V.A. Hospital. His is to upgrade the facilities at Camp Tall Pines on Middle Range Pond as a camp for Special Olympians.

The afternoon began with election of officers, followed by an initiation ceremony for those Junior Auxiliary members present who had not previously been initiated by their respective Units. They were assisted by Department Auxiliary President Alice Severance of South China, who then installed the new slate of officers, assisted by Department Chaplain Heather Beasley and Department V.P. Joyce Thurlow as the installing marshalls. The new officers are: President, Diana Duane of Etna; First V.P., Ann Porter of Topsham; Second V.P., Andrea Spoden of South China; Secretary, Angela Dube of Topsham; Chaplain, Doris Craig of Norway; Sgt. at Arms, Brandy Sargeant of Richmond, and Historian, Jessica Duane of Etna.

MSHA MORTGAGE RATES LOW FOR FIRST-TIMERS

First-time home buyers in Maine still can get bargain mortgage rates, despite the recent surge in interest rates generally, according to the director of the Maine State Housing Authority.

MSHA's current note rate for a 30-year, fixed-interest rate mortgage is 5.95 percent, said Dwight A. Sewell. The interest rate is about two points below conventional lender mortgage rates, which means significant savings for borrowers.

"The spread (difference) between our interest rate and conventional bank mortgage rates is one of the largest in our history," Sewell said. "Persons who are looking to buy their first home should act quickly to take advantage of our rates while they last."

A $60,000 mortgage at MSHA's current rate would cost borrowers about $383 a month. The same mortgage using a typical conventional loan would cost about $470.

MSHA's 5.95 percent rate will last until June 1, unless all the available funds are used before then. Sewell indicated interest rates for MSHA loans may rise after that, reflecting the current upward trend in rates.

MSHA's mortgage interest rate is determined by the prevailing interest rates at the time it sells its tax-exempt revenue bonds. MSHA sold bonds prior to the recent escalation in interest rates.

The housing authority's mortgages are targeted toward low- and moderate-income Maine people purchasing their first homes. The maximum borrower income to qualify for a MSHA mortgage is $33,500 for a one- or two-person family in most counties ($36,000 in Cumberland, Sagadahoc and York counties); or $38,500 for a family of three or more ($41,000 in Cumberland, Sagadahoc and York counties).

MSHA mortgages may be used to purchase existing homes costing up to $86,000 in most counties ($100,000 in Cumberland, Hancock, Knox, Lincoln and York counties).

CHAMBER MUSIC FESTIVAL

The Sebago-Long Lake Region Chamber Music Festival has announced dates for its 1994 summer concert season. This is the Festival's 22nd season. Five Tuesday evening performances will take place on July 12, 19, 16 and Aug. 2 and 9.

All concerts will be held at the historic and spacious Deertrees Theatre in Harrison. Concert time is 8 p.m. Tickets are $10 for individual concerts, or $45 for the entire season of five concerts. Tickets may be purchased in advance in Harrison at the public library, in Harrison at Elms Copy Center and the Village Tie-Up, or ordered through the mail.

The festival is well known for presenting a wide variety of chamber works. Nationally known artists perform works scored for this summer will be popular chamber music masterpieces such as the Brahms Clarinet Trio, the Beethoven "Archduke" Trio, the Bach Bandenburg Concerto No. 6 and the Debussy String Quartet. Less frequently heard works include Serenades for Wind Ensemble by Mozart and Dvorak, the Piano Quintet of Elgar, and a quintet for flute and strings by Joseph Kraus, a contemporary of Mozart. Important 20th century works to be performed are Berg's trio arrangement of the Adagio from his Chamber Concerto, "Amazon" by Joan Tower, and a work for flute, viola and piano by Maurice Duruflé.

"Music for Kids" concerts will take place at the Deertrees Theatre on July 25 at 10 a.m., at the Molly Ockett Middle School in Fryeburg on July 27 at 10 a.m., and at the Bridgton Town Hall on July 28 at 10 a.m. "Music for Kids" will be a collaborative performance of Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf" by Festival wind players and the dance group Terpsichore's Twin. Gould student art exhibition

The opening of an exhibition of the Gould Academy Art Department's best student art work will take place at the Owen Gallery, on Friday, May 13, from 7-9 p.m. There is no charge for admission, and refreshments will be served. The show runs through May 28.

Works will be chosen from numerous courses offered at Gould, which include pottery, design, sculpture, drawing, blacksmithing, silversmithing, painting, printmaking, and photography. The Owen Gallery is located on the Gould Academy campus in Bethel. Further information may be obtained by calling 207-824-2161.

DAN BUTTERWORTH AND HIS MARIONETTES will perform Thursday, May 12, at Gould Academy in Bingham Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. A performance of dancing marionettes, shadow rod and light puppets, masks and banners, every show is choreographed and theatrically plotted to captivate, stimulate and educate the audience. "Carnival" is a recreation of a 19th century carnival with a cigar-chomping barker who leads the audience through a whirlwind tour of "carny" acts including a variety of clowns and fantastic creatures — all set to a blend of music from around the world. Each marionette is an individual work of art, hand-carved and specially hand-costumed. "Carnival" is presented by the Gould Academy Performing Arts Series, and is funded in part by a grant from the New England Foundation for the Arts, with additional support from the Maine Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts. For further information contact Vicki Rackliffe at 824-3575.

Trek Across Maine is full

The tenth anniversary ride of the Trek Across Maine -- Sunday River to the Sea has been filled to capacity with over 1100 registrations.

"We can't believe the response we've had for the 1994 trek. We will probably turn away close to 200 participants because logistically we can't handle a larger number for this year's ride," said Robert Verrill, trek coordinator. Registrations have been received from every state in New England and as far away as California.

"We have never filled the trek as quickly as we did this year," Verrill said. "The combination of the tenth anniversary and the popularity of the largest three-day ride in the Northeast has made the Trek Across Maine a must-do event for bicyclists from around the country." The event will begin on Friday, June 17, from the Sunday River Ski Resort and spend its first night at the University of Maine at Farmington, the second night at Colby College, and a grand finish is planned at the shores of Penobscot Bay.

The 1994 Trek Across Maine is projected to raise over $400,000 for the American Lung Association and its programs to fight lung disease.

The Trek Across Maine is sponsored by NewsChannel 13, Keyes Fibre, L.L. Bean, Sunday River Ski Resort, Konica Quality Photo East and Car Test. Anyone who would like to volunteer to work on the trek, is asked to contact the MLA at 1-800-458-6474.

AT HOME IN HUNGARY -- Gould junior Leah Bonnema (right) at the Budapest Airport with her adopted family: sister Karmen Billo and mother Anna Billo.

Gould junior makes Hungary home

By KIRK SIEGEL

Gould Academy junior Leah Bonnema will return this June with six months of memories of a country that is not frequented by many Americans. Her Hungarian exchange this semester at the Varga Katalin School, in the city of Szolnok, has been a challenge, but one she has enjoyed.

Remarkably, the Bethel resident has learned enough Hungarian to get around town, thanks to her interest in learning the language, as well as a special class set up for her and another American student.

Hungarian shares a common tie with Finnish, and the two tongues are among the most difficult for English speakers to learn. "I can get around fine," she said, but gets a lot of help from native friends.

Since Varga Katalin is a bilingual school (with courses in Hungarian and English), Gould students like Bonnema are able to take most of their classes in English.

"The educational system is really different," she said. "You have to memorize everything, dates and names, and you are tested on everything, whereas at Gould it seems like we concentrate more on ideas."

Travels in the country and time in Szolnok have given her an appreciation for the way of life, which she said is less competitive than American culture. That, combined with a noticeable friendliness, makes it a nice place to be, and she said that she would like to study in Hungary again, perhaps as a college student. "It's a really great country," she said.

Her family life is a large part of the experience, and the two girls in her family are 12 and 14. The students at Varga Katalin School are very interested in America, and some have taken advantage of Varga's relationship with Gould Academy, including Grete Palla and Kornel Siklai, who are studying at Gould for the spring semester.

The exchange came about several years ago, when Gould biology teacher Steve Sanborn spent a year on a Fulbright Fellowship to the Varga School. That year, the entire Gould freshman class went to Hungary for two weeks, following two weeks of hosting 30 Hungarian students from Varga.

Leah is the daughter of Garret and Melody Bonnema of Bethel, who visited her in April. She plans to return to the States on June 6.

Golf course opens for season

After one of the snowiest winters in years, the Bethel Inn and Country Club has opened its championship golf course to members, resort guests and the public. Saturday, May 7, marked the first official day of the 1994 golf season.

"We would have liked to have been open weeks ago, but the cool spring temperatures made it impossible," said course superintendent Ed Butters.

"The extra work our crew has done to the course over the last two years has really paid off," said general manager Allen Connors.

"We're looking forward to our best season this year. The course is in great shape for this time of year and it's only going to get better. Our focus this year will be on building and repairing cart paths in addition to our normal course maintenance." Last season, a record number of golfers played the course. The improved playing conditions and the publicity of the Inn's Guaranteed Performance School of Golf have given the resort a prominent standing in the industry. Last year, Bethel was rated among the top-ten golf resorts in the northeast by America's Greatest Golf Resorts Magazine.

In celebration of the opening, golfers received a special two-for-one greens fee. "We will be staying away from discounts during the summer, but will have great deals during the spring and fall seasons," adds Connors. For more information and tee times call the Pro Shop at 824-6276.

Golf tip of the week --

Check your grip pressure before each shot. First, grip the club and set-up to the ball. Then bring the club up and rest the shaft of the club on either your left or right shoulder. In this position, notice how comfortable the arms and hands feel. Keep this comfortable feeling in mind and return the club to the ball position.

The golf tip of the week is provided by the staff of the Bethel Inn and Country Club.

AHHS Program: "When A Child Dies"

The Androscoggin Home Health Services' Hospice Program will host a panel and discussion "When A Child Dies," Wednesday, May 18, with gathering and coffee at 6 p.m., program at 6:30 p.m., at AHHS, 15 Strawberry Avenue, Lewiston.

The purpose of the evening is to help those who have lost a child of any age to understand the effect of that loss on individuals and families and to better understand the grieving process.

The public is welcomed. Those who may particularly benefit from this presentation are parents, grandparents, teachers, school counselors, members of the clergy, health care providers, therapists, and friends to those who have lost a child.

Panel members include: Weldon DeMeures, D.Min., aftercare director for the Fortin Group; Alice Redman, facilitator for a Grief Recovery Support Group; and two panelists who have experienced the loss of children and grandchildren.

The panel presentation and discussion will focus on several specific, key topics: Does the hurt ever stop? A parent's grief. Effects on relationships. Grandparents' grief. What is helpful and supportive? What are signs of problems? The public is encouraged to ask questions during the second part of the program.

Donations to support continuing hospice programs will be accepted. Further information is available from the AHHS Hospice Program at 777-7740 or 1-800-482-7412.

VOLUNTEERISM FORUM

"Speak Your Mind on Community Service and Volunteerism," a forum sponsored by the Maine State Planning Office, will be held at the Madison Restaurant, Route 2, Rumford, on May 17 from 9-11 a.m.

In cooperation with Americorps, the new Federal Community Service Program, this meeting is one of a series of forums being held statewide to bring together members of Maine's volunteer community. The purpose is to gather information from groups and individuals as to their needs, impressions and dreams for the future of community service and volunteerism in Maine.

The Rumford area forum is being coordinated by the Maine Volunteer Connection, a statewide non-profit corporation which represents many organizations utilizing volunteers. It is being hosted by Androscoggin Home Health Services, a tri-county home health agency which depends on well over 300 volunteers in providing health services to the area's homebound population.

This forum is a unique opportunity for volunteers as well as organizations which depend on volunteers to provide leadership to the State's Commission on Community Service. Anyone interested in attending this forum, is asked to contact Shirley Powell, Androscoggin Home Health, 364-3728 or 1-800-287-3728.
